

CPA BUILDING DESIGN

anne-marie coors

red and white banners with spotlights shining up at the bottom of them fountains when the weather is permitting- allows a calming noise for an atmosphere that is typically loud theater curtains to give off the feeling of a theater lcd screen that can display info on upcoming events, previous productions, pictures, ecy.

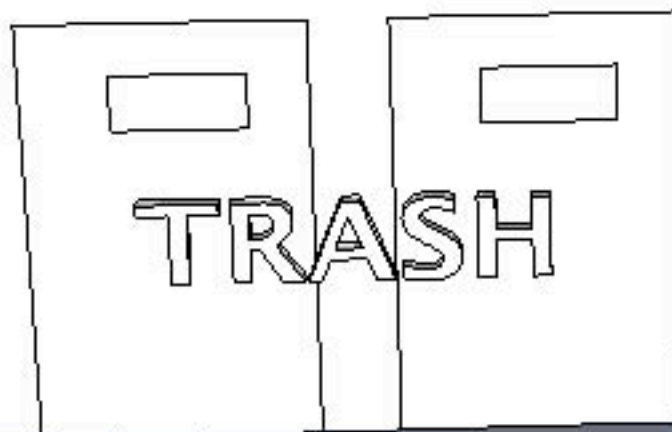

couches that allow an adequate amount of seating, yet still allows traffic flow paintings with lights lighting them up from behind trash cans built into the wall so the traffic flow is better bulletin board for people to post information

